3rd Higher Education Conference

THE FUTURE OF THE UNIVERSITY

9-11 October 2024

Message from the USAf Chief Executive Officer

Dr Phethiwe Matutu

The theme for this year's conference is "The Future of the University." As the higher education sector, we are facing enormous challenges of sustainability in the face of slow economic growth and the impact of digitalisation and artificial intelligence (AI) on the world of work in general. A sluggish economy has resulted in high levels of unemployment and declining state subsidies. How universities respond to these, and global changes (including climate variability, adaptability and environmental sustainability) will determine not only the future of the university, but that of society and humanity.

By incorporating sustainability into research, teaching, and operations, universities can tackle climate change, inequality, and resource depletion while preparing graduates for the emerging green economy. This focus promotes social equity, fosters community engagement, and ensures long-term institutional viability. Sustainable practices also reduce environmental impact, drive innovation, and enhance global competitiveness. It is imperative that universities ensure their own sustainability in this context.

Regarding digitalisation, AI is making waves in the world; it is dramatically affecting the shape and offerings of the future university. Universities must remain at the forefront of the digital revolution and map their future paths while doing so. Slow adaptation to rapid digitalisation can only be to the sector's detriment.

Taking all of the above into consideration, the 3rd Higher Education Conference will explore a number of sub-themes. The sustainable development goals and how south African universities are contributing to achieving these; the future of transformation in the university; AI and teaching and learning in the future university; financial sustainability; and academic freedom in the future university, to mention but a few.

The conference is tailored for university leaders, researchers, policymakers, educators, and industry experts. Attendees can look forward to robust discussions, engaging plenaries, interactive parallel sessions, enriching workshops and exhibitions.

Your participation is essential as we navigate the future of universities in the digital era together as a sector.

I look forward to meaningful and fulfilling engagements.

USAF STRATEGY GROUPS

USAf endorses a comprehensive and equitable national higher education system that is responsive to the challenges facing South Africa. Through lobbying and advocacy, USAf promotes and facilitates an optimal environment conducive for universities to function effectively and efficiently. It promotes cohesive but diverse public universities in service of society, recognising the need for strong and effective universities. Much of this work is led and directed by the six (6) USAf Strategy Groups, each of which is chaired by a university Vice-Chancellor nominated by the USAf Board.

The strategy groups are:

- Funding
- Leadership and Management
- Research and Innovation
- Teaching and Learning
- Transformation
- World of Work

Please visit the USAf website for more information: www.usaf.ac.za

SOCIAL EVENTS

Two social events are being held. The welcome cocktail will take place on the 9th of October and the Gala Dinner on the 10th of October 2024. USAf hopes that social events will enrich the conference experience, and provide opportunities for networking, informal learning, and celebrating our community. We hope that you will have fruitful conversations over a meal and build your network of professional relationships, connect and share ideas.

We do hope to see you there!

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

USAf wishes to acknowledge the steadfast and dedicated support of each Strategy Group and its appointed Advisory Committee that provided strategic input into the conference programme, as well as all the presenters, programme and support staff for their valuable contributions.
